

Terms of Service - Ingram Micro SolutionCenter

If you are interested in our solutions within the extent of our Demo and Test Center (hereinafter SolutionCenter), the following terms of service apply.

§ 1 Subject and rights

1. Upon request and with the consent of Ingram Micro Distribution GmbH, the user receives the right to use software solutions in the SolutionCenter for testing, evaluation and presentation purposes for the period determined under § 3 and in accordance with § 2.
2. Ingram Micro Distribution GmbH does not guarantee that the software is free of rights of third parties. Ingram Micro Distribution GmbH does not assume any liability for damages that arise from the use of the software. Ingram Micro Distribution GmbH does not guarantee that the software is free of errors. The name of the products and all rights associated with the products as well as the products themselves and all copies remain the exclusive property of Ingram Micro Distribution GmbH or third parties (third party rights holders) at all times.

§ 2 Extent of usage

1. The user receives the software environment obtained via the SolutionCenter as a streamed Cloud environment. The SolutionCenter provides access to various preconfigured software environments for testing purposes. These remain the property of Ingram Micro Distribution GmbH. The user agrees not to copy, use and/or forward the software, licenses or documentation to third parties.
2. The commercial or governmental use of the software, except for testing and evaluation purposes, as well as rental, resale and transfer of the software to third parties are prohibited.
3. The customer agrees not to pass on his account to third parties, but to only use it personally.
4. The customer is liable for any copyright or legal infringements (e.g. surfing on illegal websites, illegal downloads, hacking).
5. The use of the software is free of charge for Ingram Micro customers.

§ 3 Confidentiality

1. The user agrees to make the software and documentation available only to the necessary circle of employees and to take appropriate measures to prevent the disclosure of such information by employees of its office or public institution.

§ 4 Time period

The evaluator will receive access to the respective software environment or a respective right of use for the duration specified in the order. This period can only be extended by the SolutionSales team of Ingram Micro Distribution GmbH.